I am deeply convinced that there is nothing more important for students of international relations than participating in such a conference as EUROSIM. For me it was very instructive and I won’t forget it for sure. I met many charismatic people, very involved in the topic as well as in the decision-making process that I am sure they affected me very much for a better. I am also aware that present world is shaped by people and that is the essence of international politics – to know how to talk with them. I would like to put an emphasis on the fact that looking through history our world is extraordinary in the sense that we have this possibility to participate in such an events, meet people from all over the world and speak freely about politics and other crucial matters. The most important is that you combine work with pleasure because you travel, discover new places, meet people and learn simultaneously – can’t be better.

I recommend EUROSIM to everybody.
